

Which cell types differ most by feeding group? (by effect size, change from baseline -- not gated on significance)

